

Test Your Knowledge!

Test your knowledge with a fun quiz that you can put on a screen to drive audience engagement.

For events, put the quiz on a tablet or screen in a “kiosk” setting for visitors to try. It’s helpful if the host engages and excites visitors to try their knowledge and gives out prizes.

Click the arrows to start the quiz, to move to the next question, and to start the quiz again from the end. Also, on the question screens, click the answer to the question to get to the next screen. (If you just scroll through the PDF, it won’t make sense.)

If you click an incorrect answer, you’ll be given the correct information and the value that Intel brings. This means that people who take the quiz leave with more information about Intel products.

There are eight questions and answers that should take no longer than five minutes to complete.

To set up the quiz for the next person, click the prompt at the end to start over.

There is no score and no records are kept.
